

THE LOW REVIEW

A publication of The Bottom-Halfers Legal Society (BHLS)

09/19/2001 Volume 1, Issue 1

At the Ol' McDonnell Law Center

1L's Missing in New Computer Lab Encom 511 System.

Tragedy struck the 1L's this week. 1Ls have been disappearing from the Computer Lab's new Encom 511 system. The Computer Lab runs on a new matter transference laser. Dr. Walter Gibbs/Dumont explains "The laser dismantles the molecular structure of the object. Molecules remain suspended in the laser beam. Then when the computer plays out the model, the molecules fall back into place."

Reports of missing first years have not been confirmed but are believed to be the result of the Master Control Program (MCP) beefing up security because of attempted hacking into the system. There have been several reported incidents of users attempting to merge with memory on the network. 1Ls have been digitized and are being transferred to the game grid to play video game simulations.

There, an electric civilization thrives and races "Light Cycles" at heart-stopping speeds. Hope still exists if the newly developed TRON program becomes operational and is able to keep a security watch on the MCP. Computer Lab technicians have shut down access to all Group 7 users but 1L Hackers have attempted to create Group 6 access as 2L users. Information Services Associate Director Tom Inkel assures students "There is no risk of harm as long as everyone

Tron, he fights for the users uses their proper log on id and password." He explains that level 7 access will be up and running in a couple of days.

Course Description: A weekly

09/11/2001

Do not mark in this space. For office use only

ATTENTION ALL SUCKERS STUDENTS: Additional Required Course

"Bar Review"

(-3 units) Thursdays 9:00pm -- ? Professors: Curtis, Jerry & Tyler gathering of overachieving Pepperdine Law students convened at carefully selected establishments for the furthering of the students "complete" education. Class Topics will range from chemistry (Toxicology) to international trade (Absolut vs. Smirinoff).

Prerequisites: Socializing 101, Leisure 101, complete contempt for law school classes, aversion to Friday morning classes

Course Materials: BEvERages (not yet available at bookstore)

Grading: Completely arbitrary; (see all other law school class grading schemes).

Class Conduct: Students are expected to behave in a professional drunken manner. The first rule of Bar Review is don't tell anyone. The second rule of Bar Review is don't tell anyone. The third rule of Bar Review is no conversation shall revolve around law school classes or any other intellectually stimulating matter.

Chair throwing will not be tolerated

BAR REVIEW STATISTICS:

Classes #1 - 4 were a blur...

Class # 5 on September 20 is to be held at : 'Good Bar' in Hollywood. Don't forget to sign the roll.

PERRINTHETICALS

by Obi-Perrin Kenobi

Yes Virginia, there is an Obi-Perrin Kenobi, the great Jedi professor Obi-Perrin is the professors' professor at Pepperdine. This semester He has taken a hiatus on the outer planet of Tattooine. His teachings, however, have been passed around to eager students awaiting his return. His words echo truth to the hungry masses, "Use the lawLuke," "You've been sued!" The upperclassmen tell his stories to skeptical first years who have yet to experience his wisdom and guidance. Here are a few noble nuggets of wisdom to get you through the coming months.

I will not tolerate lawlessness in this galaxy!

tle while now and you want to know when it becomes a habit? I can tell you that doing something once does not make it a habit. I will give you the bright line rule, 'Once; a habit does not make.' Beyond that, I can not help you." October 30, 2000 11:35

Health Alert!!!:

"If one consumes a bale of asbestos in one sitting, it is understood that one will have dysfunctions in one's bodily system." November 29, 2000 11:01 am

Kids These Days:

"She is coming from Peru with Rick Masters with drugs in her undergarments! She is not a typical 17 year old! Well I hope not a typical 17 year old. She is transporting drugs across many borders. She knows where it is at! She knows what is happening! She is Cool! (Something about Rule 804[a])" 11:45 am October 4, 2000

Advice to 1Ls:

"Ah ah ah.... I'm taking you down the primrose path. Always be careful when law professors take you through incremental steps. You can not win this battle (Advice on how to succeed in law school)." Sept. 29, 2000 11:35 am.

Appealing to the Jury's Sense of Touch:

"This is tangible evidence. The jury can take it back with them to the deliberation room and see it, they can touch it, taste it if they want, put a little corner in their mouth to get the full pleasure of the paper (Referring to admitting a memorandum of a witness statement under Rule 803[5]). Sept. 29, 2000 11:30am

Habits are tough to make. . . :

" So you have been doing something for a lit-

Bottom-Halers "Low Review" requires a "low standard of review."

Justice Thomas, speaking from his gilded platform stated; "Bottom-halfers generally only apply half the analysis. Therefore they will be held to a rational basis test, not the strict scrutiny test forwarded by my co-justice, Ms. Ginsberg."

No truer words could have been spoken. Pepperdine Bottom-Halers are know to apply only the "IRC" method, rather than the preferred "IRAC" method. Thus holding their lower grade level, and inferior social status.

Additionally, when judging their publications, one must apply the aforementioned rational basis test, and not the strict scrutiny test. Especially after looking at these pages.

Have a story, a legal question, or a ferocious complaint? Send all queries to: Lowreview@netzero.net

Tips for 1L CLOSED MEMO PARTNER CHOOSING:

A) DON'T CHOOSE A PARTNER WHO EATS DORITO'S, EGG McMUFFINS, drink CHERRY COKE AND SMOKES PARLIAMENTS BEFORE 9:00. (OR AT ALL FOR THAT MATTER).

Will Work for Law Degree!

Bottom-Halers OCI

Frustrated that you haven't been selected for any interviews this fall? Don't worry, The Bottom-Halers Legal Society is here to help. Each month we will feature application materials for a prospective BHLS employer. This month's employer is Taco Bell. Make a run for the border with the enclosed application! Or check them out online: www.tacobell.com. One employee at a local chain said that "the best thing about working at Taco Bell is the free Mountain Dew refills at the soda fountain."

☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆

Taco Bell highlights:

- ☆☆ ? Over 100,000 "employees" worldwide! Try to find a law firm THAT big!
- ☆☆ ? Uses enough cheese to "melt down and mold a 7 ton . . . Elephant 5,085 times."
- ☆☆ ? Help sell 4.5 MILLION tacos a day!

☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆☆

Fresh veggies, fresh oil, and a pinch of 'el duce'

In Stores now!

Fun and Games

Separated at Birth

Dean Martin

Abraham Lincoln

You make the call

HELP JOHN RAMBO! We need to get Bin Laden in the general population of a Federal Prison, and John Rambo is our man!

Bin Laden is lost! Help John Rambo escort Bin Laden to the general population of a U.S. Federal prison!

Guess the Justice!

Each week we will supply you with a 'piece of the Justice.' Whoever is the first to guess who the justice is wins a 6-pack of Bottom-Halfers outlines!

Here is your first piece:

Send all submissions to:
Lowreview@netzero.net

Low Review Membership Drive.

This introductory issue was printed on paper. It cost money, and considering most of us will end up working at a fast food chain, we would like to keep the costs low. Therefore, we would like to distribute the Low Review via email. If you are interested in receiving random issues of The Low Review please send an email to: lowreview@netzero.net.

It began with a chair . . . Now he's the figurehead of a large influential empire. His financial power reaches across the populace, and hes not easily persuaded to fund new projects. Experience his astronomical rise to power, and his inevitable fall from grace.

FLAG FOOTBALL BEGINS!

-Alumni Park

Alumni Park—In what was supposed to be an eagerly anticipated match-up between Professor Jim Gash's "Tortfeasors" and his overconfident class of first years, Section A's "A Team" forgot to show up.

The Tortfeasors set the tone early and sent a message on the second play of the game when Gash connected with John Ogden for a 50 yard touchdown pass. That message from Gash to the "A Team" was clear: "I hope you're better students than football players. And I hope you're all prepared for class tomorrow because you're all getting called on."

Perhaps the "Tortfeasors" greatest advantage was speed. This year's squad is faster and more talented thanks to key acquisitions

SPORTS!

This is not a Huey Lewis 80's tribute article, but rather a collection of current sports events at the O' McDonnell Law Center

Pepperdine Back Nine Nears Completion

Golf-loving Pepperdine students have been salivating for months over the newly expanded links on the Malibu campus. The Jack Nicklaus designed course, located on the hills opposite the Law School is a major expansion of the famed Peppy Beach Course and will no doubt have a positive effect on the school's national reputation. In a statement to the PGA, Pepperdine President Andrew K. Benton unveiled the school's long-range building program, entitled "Pepperdine Long Range Building Program." Inside the glossy expensive brochure, replete with pictures of the Pacific Ocean and students attempting to appear studious, were some of the most ambitious projects yet to be undertaken by the University. In addition to the exquisite new course, Pepperdine is planning an extensive clubhouse complete with both formal and informal dining options, a world-class pro-shop, and a luxury spa. Other projects include a series of upscale coffee bars located throughout the school, and campus-wide valet parking.

As part of the larger school-wide upgrade, the Law School will also will receive a complete refurbishment. A state of the art infinity pool on the school's rear patio and a Vegas-style sports book located within the little-used Harnish Library are just some of the exciting projects planned. In an interview with BHLS, Dean Lynn had very little to say, but noted that the revised plan included a colossal imperial-style statue of James McGoldrick at the entrance to the law school. Other projects include a new law school bar and grill called the "Warren Burger," and a Swedish-style massage parlor known as the "Learned Hand."

in the off-season by Coach/ Manager Joe Orabona ("Little Tuna"). Marcus Brown, a free agent from "Turn the Page," made his presence felt early with a two point conversion and impenetrable defense at safety. Ted Wenzel also played an outstanding game, scoring on a pitch from John Ogden, a two point conversion, and recorded his first sack and interception of the season. John Ogden was the "A Team's" ultimate downfall—he caught three touchdown passes, two in the first half.

The line play of the "Tortfeasors" should also be noted. Chris Perez, Ryan Klein, and Josh Pakstis constantly pressured the quarterback with Pakstis making a crucial sack on third down. Ramy and Tyler Kratz provided Gash with plenty of time to throw, though Kratz did pick up his first penalty of the season after barreling over some poor first year at the goal line. (Looking forward to more Kratz. ed.)

This was clearly a special game for Gash. With less than two minutes left, Gash rumbled 19 yards, taunting his class to catch him, only to come up one yard short of the goal line. It made no difference. The "Tortfeasors" were unstoppable on this day as Wenzel scored on the next play and for the first time, the "A Team" caught a break—the mercy rule was enforced and the game ended 28-6.

Note: Ron Roach, a second year law student, played sparingly for the "A-Team", spending most of his time talking trash on the sidelines. Not good enough to make the first year team Ron?

Neither Hannibal, nor B.A. Baracus could save this A-Team from the strategic force of Jim Gash's Tortfeasors.

